Larry Blackett specializes in representing tenants in office lease negotiations and strategic planning.

He has consistently ranked among the highest performing office agents since entering the industry in 1986. Larry has worked with a wide variety of the region's office users, including large law firms, hospitals and banks. He is also fluent in Japanese and has represented most of the area's Japanese banks and trading companies.

A senior vice president, shareholder and 6 year board member of Kidder Mathews, Larry has been honored as one of the company's top performing agents in many years. Prior to joining Kidder Mathews, Larry was a lead manager of the corporate services division of The Norman Company.

Larry was a board member of Regal Financial Bank, located in downtown Seattle, for 10 years. He has served on the Bank's Loan Committee and has chaired the Assets & Liabilities Committee. Larry has also been active in the Washington Technology Industry Association, Seattle's Emerald City Rotary, the Japan America Society and Sahalee Country Club.
