Jorge Chavarria is an experienced associate specializing in industrial leasing and sales throughout the East Bay.

Jorge provides guidance and representation to clients within industrial sector. His role involves skillfully negotiating leases, participating in sales transactions working in close partnership with Executive Vice President Jason Allen at the Pleasanton office.

Prior to joining Kidder Mathews, Jorge gained invaluable experience working as an associate at Matthews REIS and TRI Commercial. It was at TRI Commercial that he began his career in commercial real estate, where he developed a solid foundation in leasing and sales and built a reputation for his client-focused approach. These roles equipped him with a diverse skill set and a deep understanding of the East Bay market, which he now leverages to serve his clients effectively.

As a Bay Area native, Jorge has an authentic and long-standing connection to the region, which enhances his ability to understand the needs and goals of clients operating within this market. Outside of his professional life, Jorge is passionate about staying active and engaged with the outdoors. He enjoys exploring local hiking trails, biking, golfing, and reading. Additionally, he is an avid guitarist, finding balance and creativity through music.

Jorge's commitment to client success, combined with his deep local knowledge and innovative approach to real estate, positions him as a valuable asset in the East Bay industrial leasing and sales landscape.
