Brian Cooper is a shareholder with Kidder Mathews and specializes in tenant representation for laboratory users in San Diego.

For 19 years, Brian has represented pharmaceutical, biotechnology, and medical device companies in leasing transactions. Brian has completed approximately 7 million square feet of laboratory leases in his career.

Brian's background in applied engineering enables him to assess the suitability of a potential site for lab-related uses. His knowledge of clean rooms, manufacturing facilities, and biology and chemistry laboratories saves time and effort in identifying suitable facilities. His ability to strategically position the tenant's requirements creates leverage and delivers flexible lease contracts with aggressive financial outcomes.
