

DAVID GELLNER

Executive Vice President

David Gellner is an executive vice president with Kidder Mathews, specializing in the sale of commercial retail investment properties in Washington. With over 10 years of experience, David has successfully completed over 150 investment sale transactions totaling more than $500,000,000. He is consistently one of the most active commercial investment sales brokers in Washington.

Before entering the commercial real estate industry, David was a firefighter near his hometown of Lake Stevens, Washington. The lessons learned from his fire service experience have positively impacted his career in CRE and how he serves his clients.

David and his wife Alanda live in Lake Stevens, Washington, where they enjoy lake days in the summer with their dog Sage.
