Jeffrey J. Lee is an industrial investment property specialist at Kidder Mathews in Downtown Los Angeles. His business principle is to prioritize the visions and goals of the clients first and achieve success together.

Leveraging his select network of the top professionals in the commercial real estate industry, he and his team formulate innovative investment solutions to ensure positive outcomes in every deal. By combining the extensive knowledge available at Kidder Mathews, state of the art technology, and his forward-thinking approach to real estate, his mission is to become a respected and trusted broker for the Los Angeles community.

Jeffrey specializes in investment sales, 1031 exchange into net lease or retail investments, leasing, and advisory for industrial sites converting to mixed use, multifamily, affordable housing, and community redevelopment projects. He quickly made his mark in the Los Angeles commercial real estate markets at Marcus & Millichap as the Rookie of the Year before joining Kidder Mathews. Outside of the office, Jeffrey enjoys time with family, cooking, hiking, and reading science fiction novels. He played ice hockey at Yonsei University in Seoul where he studied communication and journalism.
