Sean joined Kidder Mathews in the fall of 2017 specializing in sales and leasing of industrial real estate throughout the Portland Metropolitan area.

Focusing on the client's goals and challenges, Sean is able to find creative solutions for their real estate needs so they can focus on growing their business. With extensive experience working with tenants, landlords, buyers and sellers, he is able to understand the dynamic between both sides of a transaction. Sean believes building business through relationships and personal interactions is the only way to gain trust and longevity in this industry. This philosophy has made Sean a great partner for anyone looking to find a solution to their real estate needs.
