With over 21 years of commercial real estate experience in the Portland metropolitan area, Brandon is a Kidder Mathews shareholder, former corporate board member, and has lead agency leasing teams, investment advisory assignments and strategic corporate services accounts throughout the region.

From institutional and private capital investors to regional operators, he has advised on hundreds of millions of dollars of lease, sale and investment portfolio decisions.

With a business practice rooted in fundamental analysis, strategic advice, diligent execution and long-term relationships, Brandon has successful experience in a wide range of office leasing, value-add repositioning, adaptive re-use and real estate investment portfolio construction.

In addition to the current agency leasing and investment portfolio consulting focus, many established corporate users have repeatedly utilized Brandon's experience and service when developing and executing strategic real estate plans in the Portland market.
