Cindy began her commercial real estate career in 2002 after working in construction, fire/water restoration, roofing, and power generation industries.

Her varying trade experiences provide the foundation for leadership in the many facets of property management. She enjoys working closely with tenants, vendors, and owners toward common goals of success. Thinking outside the box is a trait that guides her decision-making in bidding and budgeting, obtaining value-add services for tenants, and cost savings for owners.

By building relationships with trusted service providers, Cindy gives attention and professional care at the highest level from Class A office and medical buildings to large industrial distribution centers, retail centers, and small family-owned businesses and restaurants.

Volunteer work in the community and encouraging others to reach their dreams is close to her heart.

EDUCATION

Cindy studied at San Diego State University as well as Cal State University Bakersfield. She is in the final phases of the IREM CPM certification.
