

NATHAN THINNES

Senior Vice President

Nathan Thinnes of Kidder Mathews has been involved in over $1 billion of transactions primarily in the western United States. His diverse skill set was garnered through stints in investment banking, multifamily acquisitions, and investment property brokerage. Having transacted with a wide variety of buyers, including private capital, family office, funds, institutions and REITs, Nathan is a highly regarded commercial real estate professional who leverages his financial acumen across various product types including office, multifamily, industrial and retail.

Prior to joining Kidder Mathews, Nathan was director of acquisitions for Western Wealth Capital where he acquired value-add multifamily assets covering seven states. Prior to his tenure at Western Wealth Capital, Nathan ran a Beverly Hills based family office and was responsible for acquiring/managing a diverse portfolio of properties, including multifamily, office, retail, land and hospitality. Before that, Nathan was an investment property broker with Cushman & Wakefield and TrammellCrow. Early in his career, Nathan was an analyst at BNP Paribas in the Technology Finance Group.
